JAMES O. CURWOOD PASSES AWAY

Was Noted Author and Conservationist

James Oliver Curwood, author and noted conservationist, died at his home in Owosso, Saturday night at 11 o'clock, after an illness with streptococcus infection, from which he had been ill for just a week.

Death came to the noted writer of stories of the north woods at his home, "Curwood Castle," after a desperate battle against the infection that steadily sapped his strength. Born at Owosso, June 12, 1878, Curwood went as a boy to Florence, a village in Erie county, Ohio. At Ogontz, near Vermillion, Ohio, he attended a one-room school.

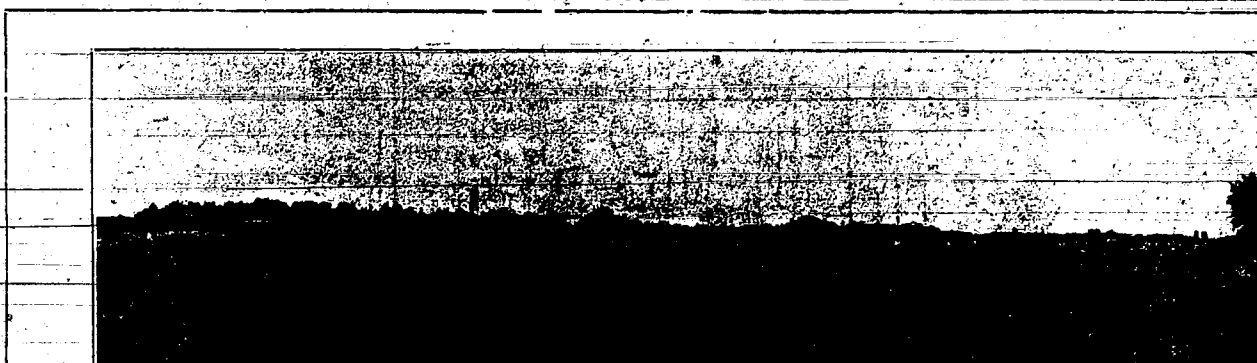

Later Curwood attended high school at Berlin Heights, Ohio, soon after his family returned to Owosso and Curwood went to the University of Michigan where he studied in the English department. From there he entered newspaper work in Detroit, but left after seven years to follow his inclination as a novelist. In 1900, he was married to Miss Rachel Greenwood, an Owosso teacher. Curwood had been previously married and two daughters were born to the first union. Besides her, his wife and one son, James Oliver Curwood, Jr., survive.

Curwood began to write novels in 1907 with the outdoors and the north woods as a background. Much of his writing was done in the woods where he had gone for his material, partly in the far north, partly in the south, in the banks of the AuSable where he completed, just a few months ago, a magnificent labor of the pen, the "The Great North Woods," and partly in the house in which he was born and later in his studio near the old home and on the banks of the Shiawassee river.

The Curwood studio, replica of an ancient Norman chateau, contains many trophies attesting to the skill of the author as a big game hunter. In the days before he pleaded himself to cease destruction of wild life, and to hunting and stalking game with a camera instead of a high powered rifle. There is also to be found one of the finest collections of big game photographs ever taken on the American continent, trophies of the author's latest hunting expeditions. Several of his novels were made into motion pictures. One of his best sellers, "Kazan," brought him wide acclaim from the moving picture dramatization.

Among his best known books are: "The Courage of Captain Plum," (written in 1908); "The Wolf Hunters," "The Gold Hunters," "The Denver Trail," "The Heart of the Big Snows," "Philip Steele of the Royal Mounted," "Kazan," "The Courage of Marge O'Donoghue," "The Valley of the North," "The River's End," "The Valley of Silent Men," "The Plaming Forest," "The Canyon Beyond," "The Alaskan," "A Gentleman of Courage," "The Ancient Highway," and "The Black Hunter."

The Curwood home on the South Branch in the southern part of this county, which was only recently completed, is one of the finest log cabins on that stream, costing more than

GRAYLING GOLF COURSE

Golf players are enthusiastic over Grayling's fine new 9-hole course located on the banks of the AuSable River, and U. S. 27 west of the Michigan Central Railroad. Visitors are welcomed here at all times and hundreds are enjoying the privilege. "Play golf and keep young," seems to be the popular slogan these days.

TROOPS PASS IN REVIEW

30,000 PEOPLE WITNESS REGIMENTAL REVIEW

Michigan's National Guard passed in review before its commander-in-chief, Governor Fred W. Green, Sunday, with fully twenty thousand of people looking on. On foot, on horseback, in automobiles, wagons, trucks, tractors and in airplanes the thirty-second division troops made a perfect showing before their governor, while throngs of visitors that clogged the roads to camp all forenoon, applauded.

The troops were drawn up in their regiments at 2 p.m. and Governor Green, with Major General Guy M. Wilson, camp commander, and his staff, rode around the field and then took positions to review the regiments. The Sixty-Third Infantry brigade was first in line, led by its commander, Brigadier General John H. Schouten, of Grand Rapids.

The 125th Regiment, commanded by Colonel Milton L. Hinkley, of Detroit, was the first infantry unit and was followed by the 120th, commanded by Colonel Edgar H. Campbell, of Grand Rapids.

Next came the artillery, with the 11th, commanded by Colonel Joseph H. Lewis of Lansing, in the lead, with their 75 mm. guns and their horse-drawn equipment. The 11th was followed by the 182nd Field Artillery, commanded by Colonel Heinrich A. Pickett.

The regimental staff officers rode first in their olive drab regimental automobiles, followed by the batteries on foot, except for those who drove the tractors that hauled huge 155 mm. howitzers. Next in line was the 107th Medical Regiment, of Detroit, led by Lieutenant Colonel Curt Hanna, who is in command of the regiment, while Colonel John D. Buck, regimental commander, is acting as division surgeon.

Last came the 106th Cavalry squadron behind Major Harold T. Webber, of Royal Oak. The mounted guardsmen, riding in faultless style, with the spotless white saddle cloths standing out against their dark mounts, won the most plaudits from the crowd of the troops.

Grounds Circled. The cavalry made three circuits of the parade ground, first walking past the governor and the reviewing officers, then coming around at a gallop. On the last round, the troops came at a charge, bending low over their mounts and flashing past the crowds as fast as their horses would carry them.

While the troops performed for the crowd on the grounds, the guardsmen put on a show in the air. Four planes of the 32nd Division air service, from Detroit, commanded by Major Floyd E. Evans, sailed over the parade grounds in formation, and later did stunts in the air. One pilot flew low past the reviewers and saluted the governor from the cockpit of his plane.

Governor Green, who is an excellent horseman, was a conspicuous figure in the review on his mount, "Charlie," shipped here for the governor to ride that day. Green left the camp by airplane following the review and started for Ionia in a plane of the air service, piloted by Lieutenant Clement Brown.

MacNider is Visitor. Among the many thousands of persons who visited Camp Grayling Sunday was Sanford MacNider, assistant secretary of war, and former national commander of the American Legion. MacNider flew here from Selfridge field and left in his airplane for Jackson to attend a meeting of the state convention of the American Legion.

Colonel E. C. Meyer, of the regular army, also witnessed the review. Harold H. Emmon, who was a week-end visitor, also left camp in an airplane bound for Jackson. While here Emmon said that the opening of the landing field at Grayling was an important step in encouraging aviation in northern Michigan. He said there was also a field on Black River ranch, 50 miles northeast of Grayling, one at Cheboygan and one planned at Ludington.

With these fields here at radial points, many resorters will undoubtedly use airplanes in making the trip to their summer homes, rather than endure the discomfort and loss of time on the train, said Emmon. He also said that Governor Green told him that it is the plan of the state to establish landing fields on the government reserves throughout the state.

Many visitors and practically all the troops in the division attended memorial services for the dead of the Boom-boom; the flash of sabres; the glitter of arms. Airplanes circling the camp. Finally, a motor car, escorted by a squadron of the 106th Cavalry and Governor Fred Green, had arrived at camp.

Arriving at a military camp in Michigan's chief executive, although he is a veteran soldier himself. It was not so many years ago when Governor Green was "Big General" Green, and inspector general of the Michigan National Guard.

Camp Grayling's welcome to the Governor on Friday afternoon was spontaneous and genuine. Not for many years have the troops been able to welcome one of their comrades in arms soldier to soldier.

The Governor was quartered in a tent adjoining that of Maj. Gen. Guy M. Wilson on Division Hill, while the Governor's family remained at the officers' club.

On Saturday evening, the Governor's Ball was staged in the ballroom of the club and Sunday, the annual Division Review was held in his honor.

Among other distinguished guests are Col. Edgar A. Meyer, who represents the Corps Commander and who will present the marksmen's medals to the men who have qualified on the target range; Major Sam Smith, former Adjutant of the 32nd Brigade, Michigan Naval forces; Maj. Chester B. McCormick, P. A., who as Col. McCormick commanded the 119th F. A. during the World War.

Major McCormick has been stationed in Columbus, Ohio as instructor for the Ohio National Guard. The 119th F. A. band played him into camp.

TROOPS THRILLED BY AIR CIRCUS

107TH OBSERVATION DO THEIR STUFF

The new 107th Observation Squadron is attracting a great deal of attention at camp this year. The Squadron is equipped with 6 planes; 4 P-1, 1 V-2, and 1 J-1. The landing field is a mile north of Grayling, near T-Pown but the officers and enlisted men are quartered in camp.

Friday, the Squadron flew to Grand Rapids to meet Col. Lindbergh. They left Grayling at 7:30 A. M. and were only one hour and forty minutes en route. The following officers made the trip: Major Evans with Col. Sinke as passenger, Lt. Selzer with Capt. Kincaid as passenger, Capt. Squire, Capt. Anderson, Lieut. Brown, Lieut. O'Neil, Lt. Ogden and Lieut. Nichol.

The Squadron took part in the big Division problem, which is being conducted this week.

Diving Rafts Ready for Use. Two 11 by 14 foot diving rafts, Gilbert of Albion; Dr. and Mrs. P. J. Abbott and son Jack, Detroit; Earl anchored at diving depth on Lake Felling, Battle Creek; Mrs. Cecile Margrethe for the use of enlisted Middleton, Flint; Mrs. L. J. Douglas, Saginaw; Miss Margaret Felling, Saginaw, as expected, others will probably be built before the 1928 training camp.

MAKING THE FARM SAFE

NO HUNTING ALLOWED. Trespassers will be prosecuted.

With these fields here at radial points, many resorters will undoubtedly use airplanes in making the trip to their summer homes, rather than endure the discomfort and loss of time on the train, said Emmon. He also said that Governor Green told him that it is the plan of the state to establish landing fields on the government reserves throughout the state.

"BEST SOLDIER IN CAMP GRAYLING"

WINS MEDAL AGAINST LARGE FIELD OF ENTRIES

Sgt. Franklin J. Fazakerley, Co. D, 124th Inf., of Holland, is the proudest soldier in the Michigan National Guard today. He was pronounced winner of the Stewart Medal, awarded each year to the enlisted man, who, after a series of eliminations conducted by regular army instructors, proved himself most proficient in the work of his arm of service.

The Stewart Medal is a memorial to the late General Earl R. Stewart, formerly commanding the 63rd Infantry Brigade and the Michigan National Guard. This medal is a finely wrought decoration of solid gold suspended by a ribbon from a bar of the same material both suitably engraved to denote the nature and significance of the award and the name of the successful candidate.

Sgt. Fazakerley was chosen from a very large field of competitors and is a real soldier of the modest type. The medal was presented by Governor Fred W. Green at the Division review Sunday.

Company, Battalion and Regimental eliminations were held under such rules as the Commanding Officer of the organization conducting the elimination directed. The successful contestant in each Regiment represented that organization in the final elimination contest.

The representative of each Regiment, the 1st Squadron, 106th Cavalry, 32nd Division A. S., and the Division Special Troops competed in the final elimination before a board selected from the Division.

Instructors on duty with the Michigan National Guard, by the Division Commander.

The final elimination was made based upon the contestants in the following:

The Uniform—Manner of wearing, condition, etc., 10; School of the Soldier without Arms—Knowledge of and ability to execute, 20; ability to command, 10; Arms and Equipment—Condition and manner of carrying same, 30; School of the Soldier with Arms—Knowledge of and ability to execute, 20; ability to command, 10.

ELIEN RYAN MONOPLANE TO GRAYLING

Pilot Husband of Frederic Girl

The presence of Lieut. Edwin T. (Riddle) Preston with his Ryan monoplane at the Grayling landing field Sunday has a double interest to the people of this region. Lieut. Preston is the husband of one of our Crawford county young ladies, Erna Craven, Frederic.

Lieut. Preston arrived here late Sunday afternoon. While he gave many people the opportunity of a trip in the air, and he and his plane were kept busy all the afternoon until darkness neared, Lieut. Preston is chief test pilot and sales manager for the Driggs Aircraft Corporation, Lansing, and is a pilot for the Foster Airways, ed, as well as displays by domestic organizations that is developing allways about the state. They now have four planes in operation and are planning upon adding others very soon.

The monoplane he used Sunday was similar to the famous "Spirit of St. Louis," that was flown by Lindbergh, direct from a successful tour of Europe. Preston has taken many trips on his plane and is quite on his feet over flying. She says that Mr. Preston is highly pleased with Grayling's new landing field and believes that it is to become very popular among aviators.

Michelson Memorial Church

John Wilfred Greenwood, Minister

Grayling, Mich., August 21, 1927

On Sunday morning, the pastor will speak on "The Dangerous Orthodoxy in Science as well as in Religion." This is the fourth message on the general theme, "Our Modern Social Order." We invite you to this service.

At 3:00 P. M., the theme will be, "The Secret of Our Courage." We had a great service last Sunday night, and we would like you to catch the contagion of song and inspiration this Sunday night.

On Monday night, Dr. F. H. Cookson will be present and all members of the official board are invited to attend. Reports of the various organizations are asked for. The matter of pastoral supply for next year will be considered and we are asking for a full attendance of the Board. The time of meeting is 8:00 P. M., and the place—The Church Parlor.

A Thought for The Week

Why the crime wave in America? Are we playing a dangerous game these days, neglecting the essentials in life? Hear what Bishop Gore has to say: "No Sabbath means no church; no church means no worship; no worship means no religion; no religion means no morality; no morality means no society; no society means no government; no government means anarchy."

In state life, in community life, as well as in the life of the individual, this spiritual law is just as operative as the law of gravitation in our physical universe. "Whosoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." In the light of that, can we afford to ignore or neglect the Christian Church?

HAGENBECK-WALLACE CIRCUS PETOSKEY AUG. 22

Circus fans and enthusiasts are keenly interested in the forthcoming exhibitions in Petoskey on August 22, of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, known as the foremost trained wild animal show in the universe. Many folks from this community are making arrangements to attend the circus, as Hagenbeck-Wallace universally is known for its high-class performance.

Hagenbeck-Wallace comes this year with an entirely new program, from the grand and glittering opening spectacle, "The Grisha" to the closing finale, "Blazing Glory." Several hundred people appear in "The Grisha," which is from the pen of Rex Dicksell, noted moving picture author and director. A small fortune has been expended in the purchase of elaborate and costly costumes from leading New York and Tokio firms, while people of this region, Lieut. Summer Cottages built this way are cool and comfortable

In no other way can so much comfort be built into a summer home for so little money as with Celotex Insulating Lumber.

This remarkable lumber, made from the long, tough fibres of cane, does what no ordinary building materials can do. It practically stops heat. It shuts out wind and moisture.

The comfortable coolness of a cottage built with Celotex is a delightful surprise. And if you want to use your cottage late in the season, Celotex will keep it snug and warm.

The cost of such a cottage is no more than the cost of one built with good lumber. Celotex is used for both exterior and interior finish. When painted, it will resist the weather quite as well as wood lumber. And it is much stronger in wall sections than wood. The broad, strong Celotex boards are easy to handle and apply. Sawn and nailed as wood lumber.

We sell and recommend Celotex. Ask us for sample and prices.

Frank Jennings is home from Frederic for a short visit with his family.
Mrs. N. P. Salling and a friend from Anderson, Ind., are guests at Mrs. J. M. Jones.

There promises to be a large crop of blackberries. The raspberry crop is nearly harvested.

Julius Nelson has a field of oats
that is loaded with grain and stands
five feet high. Worthless country.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hartwick came up from Jackson for an outing last week. They are always welcome.

A. R. Brink made a flying trip to Standish to spend Sunday with the family and friends there.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Borchers enjoyed a visit over Sunday from his sister, Mrs. M. Watson of Duluth, Minnesota.

Miss Cora Wright is made happy by a visit from her sister, Mrs. A. H.
Wetz of Dayton, Ohio, and Miss Meta
Valentine of Vassar.

A new roof is being put on the schoolhouse which began to be repaired. It will be all in fine condition for the opening of school.

Julius K. Mow is getting awfully fat at Johannesburg. It must be the atmosphere, as there is no beer there.

Monday afternoon Mrs. Marius
Hanson gave a tea for the young ladies and Mrs. R. Hanson entertained for them on Monday evening.

Mrs. N. A. Soderburg and Miss

Nellie were visiting at Johannesburg
last week where "Mabel" is at work.
They expect to move there as soon as their house can be made ready.

On Sunday a delightful trip down
the AuSable was given by the young people, terminating with a fish dinner at Stevens.

Mrs. Chas. Trombley, with her daughter Ethel, spent last week at Lewiston with her sister, Mrs. Stevens.

Mrs. Woodworth and daughters were guests at a house party given by Mrs. D. Kneeland, at her home in Lewiston last week.

On Saturday last Mr. T. Hanson and his sisters, Mrs. Bauman and Miss Hanson, gave a picnic at their new cottage at Portage Lake, for the young ladies.

The new bridge across the river on Maple street is completed and looks like a good structure. J. P. Hum had the contract, and he has proved himself an expert before this.

W. S. Chalker and wife came down from the farm last Saturday. They report big crops and are not yet through haying. They drove home Sunday afternoon.

Our postage stamps always bear
the face of a man. While a silver dollar shows the profile of a woman, and a local wit remarks that is why we lick a stamp and squeeze a dollar-
two lick a stamp and squeeze a dollar-two.

The Misses Virginia and Alice Buttles and the Misses Edith and

Jean Potter, all of Milwaukee, are spending the week at Woodworth's.
Many pleasant entertainments were given in their honor.

Mrs. Woodworth, assisted by Mrs.
Chas. Trombley, gave a tea for the young people last Friday. The members of the club gave a most delicious dancing party for them last Friday evening.

The Michigan Central has paid to the Auditor General $385,425.32 in full settlement of the taxes on all of its lines in the state for 1901. By reason of the company's tax payment
the cash balance in the state treasury is now $4,197,541.83, the highest in the history of the state.

It is estimated that $5,000.00 have been paid out here for huckleberries this season. A large part of this amount has been earned by ladies and children, and will come handy in their homes.

Died—At his home in this village
Sunday, August 10th, Rasmus R.
Hanson, aged 44 years. Deceased was a native of Denmark, and came to this country about 21 years ago, residing in Iowa for one year, and coming from there to this place.

where he was married to Miss Hedwig Fisher, who died about 4 years ago. He leaves one daughter and four sons, with his sister, Mrs. Julius Nelson, to mourn his going home. He was an exemplary citizen, and recognized as an honest, upright man, who from frugality and labor had built a competent home, and was attending a competence. His sudden death was a shock to the community, and his beloved family will receive their full sympathy. He fell from a wagon loaded with lumber, on the 8th inst., striking on the back of his head and shoulders, receiving such injury that he was paralyzed, and though he partially recovered the use of his limbs

and all was done for him that science could suggest, the shock could not be overcome. The funeral on Tuesday conducted by Rev. H. Goldie, was largely attended, attesting the respect of our people.

Johnson Twenty Years Ago

Very few baseball fans will recognize this photograph of Walter Johnson, which was made shortly after this great speed ball artist broke into major league baseball 20 years ago. A huge celebration was held in his honor on the twentieth anniversary of his first appearance as a pitcher for the Washington club.

Glacial Periods

The great ice age occurred at the beginning of the Pleistocene period.
During this ice age there occurred several glacial periods marked by the extension of the ice sheets, separated by several interglacial periods marked by partial disappearance of the ice.

COOLIDGE COUNTS ON THREE BILLION BUDGET

New Heavy Demands on Treasury; Hopes to Have Rail Merger Act.

Wash., D. C., Aug. 12.—Problems of the next budget, labor conditions, and the coal strike and food control legislation were discussed by the President in a recent conference with Gen. Herbert M. Ladd, director of the budget;
Secretary of Labor Davis and Representative William E. Hull of Peoria.
No figure has been set for next year's budget, and while the President would be greatly pleased if this could be cut below $3,000,000,000, he thinks it will be something more than this,
due to all the new demands on the treasury in sight. His departmental policies, as affecting the distribution of the budget, were talked over with General Ladd.

It is the general expectation in congress, as reported to the President, that Boulder dam legislation will be passed by the next congress. The President is very hopeful that railroad consolidation will be effected during this administration, and while some could be facilitated by legislation, he thinks there are laws enough now adequate to provide for this.

After discussion with Secretary
Davis, the President found business conditions quite fair, with labor conditions extremely satisfactory.

The President has no intention of transferring by executive order the administration of the Philippines or other colonial possessions from the war department to the interior department. While he thinks he may have such authority he would much prefer to have congress do this, as it probably would involve legislation.

Secretary Davis flew from Mooseheart, Ill., to Haron, S. D., where he took a train to the Hills. Discussing the coal strike, he said that the number of "mines" are now producing between 100,000 and 150,000 tons a week under compulsion, but as there is a reserve of 50, 000,000 or 60,000,000 tons, it will be a year before there is a shortage. If the coal-mining runs up to capacity
they could produce enough, he thinks.

Mr. Hull is on his way to study the Columbia basin irrigation project in Washington. He has been through the flood area and intends to go there again before congress meets. He said:
"Natural floods, when they come as the one that has just occurred, will overflow the banks of the Mississippi river and cause great disasters. This late flood, which covered an area of 150 miles in width and 300 miles in length of the finest land of the South, devastated more than enough property to furnish the funds to control
the Mississippi river twice over."

"That is a condition that should never be allowed to occur again because no matter what it would cost in money furnished by the government of the United States, that money would be well spent."

"There should be no hesitancy by the congress to appropriate sufficient funds to repair the damage and give the people a chance to make their own living. The government should then act quickly in repairing the damages and in assisting the people of the district in starting life anew."

The President has decided to go to New York, N. Y., about September 1 to look at the city and project. On his way to New York, he is expected to be at Brookings, S. D., where he has been asked to deliver a lecture at the State Agricultural college.

Ohio Coal Mines to Open;
Call on Governor to Aid

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 12.—Ohio coal operators have advised Gov. A. W. Donahay that they intend to go forward with their efforts to open their mines, this since April 1, and called upon him to protect them in the attempt.

A letter from S. H. Robbins, president of the Ohio coal operators' association, to the governor, declaring the operators' association would except to reopen their mines, and advise him that they would look to him to make good his "recently proclaimed assurance that Ohio industry and Ohio citizens will be protected while operating to carry out their respective functions," was made public by Mr.
Robbins.

Mr. Robbins' letter was in response to an invitation issued by the governor to operators in the central competitive field to reconvene the adjourning Miami (Fla.) conference in an effort to arrive at a wage scale
that would permit the mines to reopen on a normal basis. The Miami conference broke up last January in failure.

with steel cut or wire cut nails—
through the side tongue—known as blind nailing.

Farm Bureau Notes

R. D. Bailey, Co. Agricultural Agent

"Let us develop the resources of our land; call forth its powers, promote all its great interests, to see whether we also, in our day and generation, may not perform something to be remembered."—Webster.

Some of the advantages of pasture are:

1. Helps to balance a ration of home-grown feeds.
2. Takes less grain per pound of gain.
3. Don't take so much high-priced, high-protein feeds as tankage, linseed meal, etc.

4. Pigs are healthier and more vigorous, leading us to print the following from the pen of Mr. J. P. Hockema in the Michigan Farmer:

Are Your Hogs in Heaven?
A pig's idea of heaven is an alfalfa pasture, though red clover or rape McLean system of hog sanitation isn't so bad. But, if a pig can take pride in the use of clean pastures, he usually will "hit for the tures."

However, don't get the idea that alfalfa is the only thing that hogs like. They like all kinds of green feed. If you know that when hogs are all you have to do is to turn your pasture they take only about two hogs out into a pasture field, for they feed as much feed to make a given amount of gain. One farm amount of gain? In other words, if you had his sow on blue grass pasture where you feed 300 pounds of feed to in August, and she had seven nursing hogs in the dry lot, it takes only 200 (?) pigs. She had pasture. (ahem) pounds to make the same gain. It and so all she was fed was green hogs are out in pasture. When apples and water, and about once a you can affect about a thirty-three week she had a little skim-milk, for per cent saving by putting your hogs the owner sold his milk. I'll admit I on pasture, can you afford to keep felt sorry for that sow and her fam- them in the dry lot?

don't believe those pigs ever made that man any money, even though he didn't have a very high feed bill.

Usually, we figure about two or three pounds of grain per hundred pounds of live stock daily, and of alfalfa five to six per cent should be tankage, or its equivalent of linseed meal, skim-milk, soy beans, middlings, etc., providing the pigs are on alfalfa or clover; otherwise, from six to ten per cent of the supplement should be of the above concentrates, if they are running on blue grass, oats, etc.

In regards to kinds of pasture—alfalfa heads the list because: fencing is expensive, and a crop is demanded that will produce high yields and carry a maximum number of hogs. Alfalfa will carry from ten to eighteen hogs per acre. (2) Your fence must be used as long as possible, and alfalfa may be grazed from May to October. (3) Forage for hogs must be green and sappy, and alfalfa is always that. (4) Alfalfa seeded once needs little labor, whereas, rape, etc., require frequent seedings. (5) Alfalfa enriches the soil as well as the farmer. Alfalfa should not be pastured too heavily so as to injure the new shoots. Some hay should be taken off, even though it is pastured. Red clover is also an excellent pasture crop, but is best in spring, early summer and fall. It may be supplemented with rape.

Rape is an excellent hog pasture. can be planted from early spring to midsummer, and will be ready to pasture all summer and fall, and will carry a large number of pigs per acre.

Of course, there are many others, such as sweet clover, blue grass, rye, oats, etc., but the first three mentioned are preferable.

If you are short of grain, why not save about thirty-three per cent and put your hogs in heaven while they are of earth?—J. P. Hockema.

You Can Control Cucumber Beetles
Dust on hydrated lime every day while beetles bother. Use an empty corn or tomato can with 12 to 15 lbs. of lime.

Hydrated lime is cheap; comes in many sizes, and is needed for many purposes on a farm or in a garden; what you do not use this year is put away and used next year.

Grain Feeding Increasing Here
It is a welcome sign of improvement to learn from feed dealers that the amount of barged dairy feed bought by our farmers is increasing at a strong rate.

Many who laughed at the idea of feeding grain to a cow that was picking her living by the roadside are now steady users of the various leading brands of dairy feeds.

However, there are still many who have not carried this matter as far as they should.

45 Years Old When He Started to School

Too often our town and country boys quit school as soon as they pass the eighth grade examination. They feel that their education is finished, and that now they can loaf around pool rooms, fish and hunt their time away at the town sweet with their friends.

They have no plans about preparing to meet the battle of life with any kind of preparation. They help swell the already too large a class that claim the world owes them a living.

When they grow up they will easily slip into the class that "jump" board bills, sneak out of paying grocery bills, milk bills and rent.

Professor T. L. Haeckel, did not look so slightly upon schooling. For 27 years he has been one of the leading dairy authorities of the United States, most of the time at Minnesota College of Agriculture.

When he was 45 years of age, after he had been for 12 years secretary to the Governor of Wisconsin, the first dairy school in the United States was started in a dwelling house at the Agricultural College of Wisconsin, at Madison.

Although 45 years old, T. L. Haeckel entered the school, where his ability as a buttermaker was soon recognized, and he was soon selected to teach other.

Please note the age—45 years old and still going to school. Not quite so self-satisfied as many youths of 15 to 16. He wanted to be someone and something in the world, and was willing to prepare, even at 45.

His career since, of 27 years, as one of the leading and helpful authorities on dairymaking amply justifies his choice.

Have we not a few boys and girls, too, who hunger and thirst for better preparation for life, and who are willing to work, save, strive and struggle to get it?

Before we know it, high schools and colleges will be opening for a new year. May we not hope that the appeal will reach a few who will break away from the common crowd, show their individuality, and work their way, if necessary, as many have done, through the Agricultural College, or some other institution of learning?

Proper Feed for Brood Sows Before Farrowing
Proper feed before and after farrowing will have a great deal of effect upon the size and vigor of the litter, and good feed of care should be taken not to make the ration too fattening. It would be better if there was no corn in the ration. However, this would not be economical on most farms; so as much as one-third of the grain ration may be corn if necessary. The remainder may consist of ground oats and middlings or bran. A small amount of linseed oil meal will help. All grain should be ground if not too expensive, as it will be found cheapest in the long run.

Besides the grain the brood sow should have some kind of roughage. Alfalfa not only exceeds all other hay crops in yield and quality, but its use in a well-balanced dairy cow ration makes possible the farmer to get more pounds of butterfat per acre of crops grown for feed, states the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. Furthermore, the farmer who grows alfalfa with corn and oats reduces his requirements for purchased concentrates to balance his ration properly.

A suitable ration containing alfalfa hay, one which will keep a good dairy cow of medium size in good health, and supply her with sufficient kinds and amounts of milk-making feeds to produce one pound of butterfat a day at lowest cost, can be made up of approximately 19 pounds of alfalfa hay, 10 pounds of corn silage, 2 pounds of ground corn, 4 pounds of ground oats, and 1 pound of linseed oil meal. Average yields of the field crops used in this ration enable the farmer with good cows to produce 96 pounds of butterfat from each acre devoted to the growing of these crops. Only one pound of purchased concentrates is required for producing one pound of butterfat from this ration. Where the farmer relies on timothy for his sole dry roughage, it can be substituted for alfalfa hay in making up a fairly efficient ration which would contain about 12 pounds of timothy hay, 36 pounds of corn silage, 4 pounds of ground corn, 5 pounds of ground oats, 2 pounds of wheat bran and 2 pounds of linseed oil meal. The cost of this ration, however, is over half again higher than the one in which alfalfa instead of timothy hay was used. With average yields of timothy hay, corn and oats, and with the addition of two and one-half times as much purchased protein concentrates required to properly supplement these farm grown feeds, only 60 pounds of butterfat are possible from each acre of feed crops grown.

Alfalfa hay in dairy cow feeding, therefore, makes the most economical ration because it greatly cuts the cost of producing cream by reducing the acreage needed for growing feed crops, by saving time and labor in planting and harvesting the crops, and by lessening the amounts of purchased protein supplements needed to balance the ration.

A LITTLE TALK ON THRIFT

(By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.)

"Save one hundred dollars, then decide whether you want to continue in the practices of thrift."

This advice recently was given by a banker to a young couple who had come to him for suggestions regarding ways and means of practicing thrift.

The advice to forget everything else, so to speak, and concentrate on the saving of $100 was sound and could well be accepted by anyone who today does not practice systematic saving.

Many people are saving of $100 to many persons may mean a considerable effort of economy. But after their nest-egg has reached this amount, they begin to reap the mental and financial benefits of their economy.

They begin to feel the joy of getting ahead. They gain the sense of stability and moral courage which was not theirs before. They realize that at last they are on the right road.

Persons who are leading thrifty lives today should bear these thoughts in mind. To deny one's self certain pleasures and indulgences is not an inviting prospect to them. They feel that they should get the maximum amount of pleasure out of life from day to day, and the thought of knuckling under to a more prosaic existence does not appeal to them.

But by the time $100 has made its appearance in the columns of their savings bank pass book, the practice of thrift has become something of a real pleasure and they go on accumulating more and more while the joy of possession increases constantly.

Do not refrain from practicing thrift because you feel that it will mean hardship and privation. The first few steps may be difficult, but after that it becomes the greatest dividend payer in happiness and peace of mind that can be found.

If you have never saved any money, try the plan suggested by the banker in the first paragraph of this article.

STATE PARK HAS GREATEST YEAR

Attendance at the East Tawas State Park this season, has eclipsed all previous records, according to figures given by the caretaker, Mr. Goupil, who has been caretaker at this park for a considerable period.

Declares that the park is growing in popularity annually. One of his guests this season was an Ohio man, who has been at the park five consecutive years. Conservation department records show that East Tawas park, one of the oldest under state management, has always been one of the leaders in point of attendance.

BUREAU EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE AT GAYLORD

The annual summer meeting of the executive committee of the North-Eastern Michigan Development Bureau will take place at the Gaylord County Club, Friday, August 19.

The meeting will be initiated by a luncheon at the Gaylord County Club, and will be followed by a business session.

Decision to hold the meeting at Gaylord was made at the annual meeting of the Bureau, held in Detroit last year. The meeting was extended to the Bureau by Herman Lundin, of Gaylord, president of the Bureau, and John Yuill, of Vandebilt.

The meeting is being held late in the week to permit those in attendance to take advantage of the resorts in the vicinity over the week end. Residents of Gaylord have been invited to attend the business meeting.

A DRIVER'S RESPONSIBILITY

The man at the wheel of a speeding motor often fails to appreciate the grave responsibility he assumes for other lives. What is true of the road hog and the reckless speeder is also true of the driver who tries to "beat the train." All too often it is not alone the lives of such drivers and their passengers that are sacrificed to criminal folly, but trains are wrecked with loss of life among their crews and passengers.

Have you ever made good on one job.. for 39 years?

THE extra mileage you get from Dunlop tires starts with the fact that Dunlop has had thirty-nine years of tire-building experience—more than any other tire-maker.

Each part of each Dunlop is built right. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills to spin selected long-fibre cotton into the special Dunlop cable-twist cords.

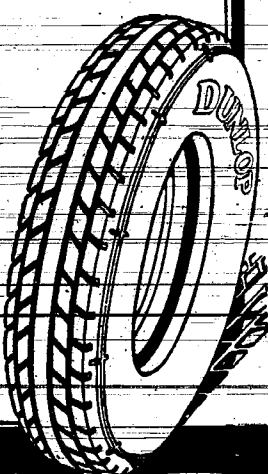

These cords mean extra strength—an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

They mean extra "stretch"—so the tire carcass will give under blows, and come back to its original shape without the slightest injury.

Every Dunlop you buy has extra miles built into it because Dunlop knows each part of its job. That is why we recommend you put Dunlops on your car.

The Brand Is Your Insurance

THERE is an overproduction of crude oil. This has encouraged the opening of numerous small refineries. Many of these are operated by men unskilled in this work. The consequence is that in gasolines there is a wide variance in quality and performance.

Red Crown Ethyl is a new gasoline built upon an old, established brand. Red Crown Gasoline is the peer of any motor fuel made from pure petroleum. By adding Ethyl anti-knock compound to this splendid fuel, Red Crown Ethyl is produced.

Red Crown Ethyl does away with that annoying knock—the engine delivers a steady, smooth, flexible flow of power—it gives the car a snappy start, a quick pick-up, and enables it to attain any speed the machine is capable of developing.

It has made the high-compression engine possible—and it makes your engine perform better.

Particular attention of readers is invited to the Conservation advertisement of the Michigan Press Association appearing in this issue of the Avalanche. During the past two years the Michigan Press Association has given much time and thought to the subject of conservation which is of vital importance to all people of the nation, and particularly to the residents of Michigan who desire to have the background of the National preserved for themselves and their posterity. Read the ad carefully, tell your friends about it and invite them to join you in observing the rules outlined to protect and preserve the beauties which nature has so bounteously bestowed upon us.

Rev. L. S. Davidson of the Free Methodist church has returned and is packing his household goods preparatory to moving to Wilson near Alpena where he has been assigned to pastorate of the church of that denomination. Rev. Davidson has been in Grayling for two years and has been very successful with the local church. He is a splendid gentleman and a conscientious worker. He speaks very highly of the people of Grayling and says he has been accorded splendid assistance in his work. He deplores the fact, however, that the people of Grayling are not better church-going people. We are very sorry indeed to have Rev. Davidson leave this city and wish him the best of success in his new field. Other changes made by the conference, that of the station in Alpena, have been assigned to Grayling people as follows: Rev. H. A. Wilcox has been returned to Wolverine and Rev. George Hughes to Muskegon. Grayling will have no regular pastor for the present, the pulpit to be supplied from time to time.
